SIR ARTHUR CURRIE MEMORIAL GYMNASIUM

Athletics at McGill will be boosted greatly this year by the added facilities accorded by the above long sought gymnasium. Adequate locker and shower room for the track and field men have been sorely needed in the past and the new gym's accommodations have come none too soon for the men participating in these sports. Squash, basketball, badminton, boxing, wrestling, fencing, gymnasium and other facilities are also included within its walls.

calling all co-eds
by winifred

With visions of snow and ice not far distant one begins to think of everything that goes with said snow and ice. Ice this year will probably prove to be one of the most frequented parts on the winter horizon, for according to the sports reorganization at McGill many will be playing hockey who have never been on skates before. Of course we are referring to the co-eds and their plans for the coming season.

Several days ago while wandering through the halls of R.V.C. a notice caught our eye and upon closer inspection it was a hockey notice. It urges veterans, and novices to sign up and if they wish to ask any questions to get in touch with Mary Baily who has taken over the helm of the Hockey in R.V.C. this year. Several teams will be chosen from among the volunteers, and all aspiring hockeyists are assured that they will not be left unrewarded for all their efforts, but that a small red "H" will be presented to each member of the winning team.

Besides all this outdoor activity the co-eds will participate in some indoor training, in order to learn the finer points of the game. Much the same procedure has been followed in previous years with regards to the indoor coaching and in the past it has proved an enormous help in getting well organized and well co-ordinated squads.

Co-eds were delighted that they would be able to bridge the moat and enter the Sanctum Sanctorum to play their squash tournaments during the coming season. Enthusiasm has been marked of late for this new departure in women's athletics, and the lists on the notice board in R.V.C. have been well responded to.

The Armory will be available to the R.V.C.-ites on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2-4 p.m. in the afternoon. It must be kept in mind that the inauguration of Squash at McGill is not solely for those who are already experts, but especially for those who have no idea whatever of the game. If it is impossible to secure rackets elsewhere they may be obtained from the Physical Education office in R.V.C., but if any of the players have them they are requested to use their own.

Plans are already well under way for the formation of the club and tournament. If you have been watching these pages of late you should all be well versed in the finer points of the game as squash rules have been appearing periodically.

Due to their very marked powers of persuasion the co-eds have persuaded their manager to allow the Tennis tourney's first round to last until to-day. (Continued on Page Four)

Rugger Club in Opening TussleFirst English Rugby Game of Season on Saturday

The McGill Rugby Club will officially open its 1940 season this Saturday when it plays its first game at 3:00 o'clock on the lower campus against an aggregation of city players. All non-players, who are interested in English Rugby, are asked to turn out and get an idea of this type of play so as to better understand it. They will then be able to attend future practices.

Yesterday was the first major practice of the season and approximately 20 men turned out. A large portion of these were newcomers and if anything can be judged by the enthusiasm shown a first rate team should result. However, there is room for many more players and all who are interested are especially urged to attend tomorrow's game.

There are to be many more games after tomorrow's and if a sufficient number of men can be found inter-comp games might be formed.

INTRAMURAL

A new era of sporting activities is being originated at McGill University. An interview yesterday afternoon with athletic manager Hay Finlay, and coaches F. M. Van Wagner and Em Orlick disclosed a fact that "a New Deal of Sports" revolutionizing the ideas of former years, has come. Beginning with Coach Kerr's football school a so-called "School of Skills" has come into existence, which will in the near future start providing instruction for the masses rather than for those few who are gifted in the way of athletics. The following sports are to be included in the instruction courses:

BOXING, WRESTLING, WEIGHT-LIFTING

Lists have been posted in the locker room of the gymnasium concerning these sports. Regular classes in boxing and wrestling are expected to be held twice a week and if enough interest is shown in weight lifting, special equipment will be purchased for this sport. Everyone is urged to sign up, especially those who have not had any experience in the manly art of self defence.

BADMINTON

These are the tentative plans for badminton. Although contracts have not been completed, a professional player is expected to give a demonstration, with the aid of some of the better players of the University, on Tuesday, October 22, from 5 to 6 p.m. and on Thursday, October 24, from 8 to 9 p.m. This is for the purpose of stimulating interest in the sport. Anyone may attend, as the demonstration is intended for novices. However, nine courts will be available for the use by more advanced exponents of the game who do not care to watch. Starting on the week following, instructional courses will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays at either five or eight p.m. Those whose names are signed on the sheets posted in the locker rooms of the gym will be divided into groups and a leader put in charge of each.

SQUASH

The plans for Squash are similar to those of Badminton. A professional is expected to give a demonstration on Wednesday, October 23, and on Friday, October 25, at 8 p.m. Likewise, this is to create interest among the ranks of prospective players. Group instruction will begin on the week following at the hours of five or eight p.m. on Mondays or Wednesdays.

SOFTBALL

The softball schedule of games for today is as follows:
(First Round)
9:00 a.m.—"A" Company vs. "C" Company.
10:00 a.m.—"B" Company vs. "D" Company.
11:00 a.m.—"E" Company vs. The Independents.
(Second Round)
1:00 p.m.—(The Winner of 1st game) vs. (The Winner of 2nd game).
2:00 p.m.—(The Winner of 3rd game) vs. ("F" Company).
(Finals)
3:00 p.m.—The two teams which survive the Second Round will meet each other for the Inter-Company Championship.

Game

As an English Sports Reporter, it fell to my lot (as I knew it eventually would) to write a 'Human Interest' story (in which no human could possibly be interested) about my reactions to Canadian Football. Luckily I had watched one match, but maybe I would know more about the game if I hadn't. Anyway, I thought, I had seen a few movies of the American game and they seemed the same to me, so I could use the one in describing the other.

Any difference there may be between the Canadian and American brand is purely technical. Both are played in riding breeches, a crash helmet, and medieval armour. In both the action is limited to tense gossip in mid-field, followed by a mighty rushing-together to the deafening roar of cardinal numbers. Admittedly, a touchdown is thrilling, but anything that occurred to break the monotonous repetition of the above would take on the tense drama of a Blitzkrieg.

An English friend of mine was asked by another Canadian: "How much padding do you wear for English Football?" When he replied: "None" the Canadian commented: "What a silly game." Now, this seems unfair. Perhaps we don't kill our thousands and wound out (Continued on Page Four)

Original Inter-Company Idea Abandoned—Lack of Entries

The original idea of Inter-Company Rugby was abandoned yesterday by Coach Doug Kerr due to insufficient entries from some of the companies. Instead three teams will be formed from those men who have already attended practices together with any others who may turn out. Each team will choose its own name and select its own captain. Companies will get points according to the proportional representation on the teams.

Practices will still continue as usual every night from 4:30 to 6:30 and attention is drawn to the fact that a regular practice will take place tonight. Coach Kerr is satisfied with the nightly turnouts which average around 65 but there is still room for plenty more prospective pigskin pushers up on the field.

With the end of the second week of active competition in the current Intercompany Tennis Tournament only seven men remain of the record number of seventy entrants who first entered the tournament. Of these seven survivors three have reached the quarter final stage and two are waiting in the semi-final bracket.

Only one match was played yesterday and saw H. Heinrich defeat R. Culley 6-4, 6-2. This match was a considerable upset in that Culley was seeded third and was given a good chance of reaching the semi-finals. Heinrich played a steady game, however, as his decisive win carried him into the semi-final round. (Continued on Page Four)

SQUASH LADDER

The Squash ladder tournament is now in progress and names of the forty-four men entered have been drawn and placed on the ladder which is located in the passage way outside of the courts. Names, Faculties and telephone numbers are on the board, and players are urged to arrange games with either of the two men immediately above them on the ladder.

Despite the present war basis upon which the college athletics are being run this year the 88th Annual Track and Field Meet is scheduled to get under way this afternoon at 2.15 around the oval track of Molson Stadium. Several changes will be made this year in the usual routine of the meet but the underlying aspect will be the same and students will take advantage of the one day rest from studies in order to wage keen rivalry on track and field.

This year the meet will consist of an Intercompany competition in accordance with the new athletic scheme at the university. Every man who enters the meet will gain two points for his company (Continued on Page Four)

TRACK MEET — PROGRAM OF EVENTS

Following is a list of the events in the order in which they are to be run off in this afternoon's track and field meet, together with the list of names entered in the various events up to yesterday afternoon. This is not necessarily a complete list of the competitors and post-entries will be accepted anytime up to the commencement time of the event. The Need for Sport

"Sports are older than civilization. Hunting, fishing, swimming, wrestling, running, jumping, fighting, horse racing, and physical competition of any kind, whether as the pursuits of the savage or the sports of the civilized, have existed since time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. They have flourished through centuries, outlasted empires and democracies, come through war and peace, famine and flood, fire and pestilence, and if the Age of Machinery is upon us, one of the byproducts seems to be the leaving free of human muscles for added hours of exercise on the field of sports." Thus did John Kieran, one of the greatest sport writers of our time, sum up the importance of sport in our daily life.

Getting out regularly for some brand of sport is as essential to our well being as anything else we may do. Too often sports are considered merely as a pleasant diversion for those who have the time to spare from their regular work. Too seldom do people realize that the last part of the old phrase, "Mens Sana in Corpore Sano" has a great deal to do with the forming of the first part. We may pay for it with our health—and perhaps with our lives—unless we take a reasonable amount of exercise, and by exercise we don't mean necessarily the old drudgery of touching the floor and such every morning. There are plenty of suitable sports that can be a lot of fun as well as being good body builders.

The cessation of Intercollegiate sports this year at McGill puts a damper on the proverbial "rah rah" college spirit but it has its compensations in that it gives a greater opportunity for each and every student to get into one or more of the many sports represented at McGill. The Athletic Office and the Students' Athletic Council have worked long and hard organizing sports for everybody this year and the support of the student body is all that is needed to make this one of the most successful sport years as far as the individual student is concerned.

So far the response to the appeal of 'everybody out' has not been as enthusiastic as it might be. For some reason the majority of the students seem to feel that because they are not experts in any one field they are not wanted. This was not the case even last year when there was Intercollegiate competition and definitely is not the attitude this year. The whole idea of Inter-Company sports, the successor to last year's Intramural sports, is that everyone be given a chance to play some game, no matter how little previous experience they have had.

With the new Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium completed and fully equipped, the undergrads have better facilities than ever before—perhaps better facilities than most of them realize. A wander around the building sometime will give an idea of the number of sports that can be played and may also give an idea of the very few people playing them.

As far as sports and the war effort are concerned, the idea that the cause might better be served by dispensing with sport is about as erroneous as it could be. Intercollegiate sports were not cancelled for that reason. Co-operation and team spirit are essential for the battle ahead and nowhere can these better be learned than in sports.

NEW DEAL

Reprinted from The Christian Science Monitor

The tables were turned upon the faculty of Colorado State College of Education here when the students graded their instructors. Professors and teachers now know what it is like to experience some of the feelings which they have so often created in student ranks.

The faculty members were rated by the students on 10 traits that are regarded as important in the personality of a good teacher, and the results of the students' ratings not only are expected to furnish basis for faculty improvement but at the same time probably afford an outlet for some pent-up student opinions.

Only 30 members of the faculty were subjected to the test-tube of student opinion, but the ratings were made by 2115 students in 50 different classes. The classes contained from 17 to 121 students each. The rating scale was one evolved by Dr. G. C. Brandenburg and Dr. H. H. Remmers known as the Purdue scale. Its authors declare that next to student intelligence, the factors contained in their rating scale are probably the most important factors in the learning process.

The points upon which the students here sat in judgment upon the faculty were: interest in subject, sympathetic attitude toward students, fairness in grading, liberal and progressive attitude, presentation of subject matter, sense of proportion and humor, self-reliance and confidence, personal peculiarities, personal appearance and power to stimulate intellectual curiosity.

Results of the student ratings have been compiled and interpreted by Dr. J. D. Hellman, professor of educational psychology at Colorado State College of Education, and Dr. W. D. Armentrout, vice-president of the college. All of the ratings made by students were, of necessity, unsigned, to insure freedom of student expression.

According to the tabulations, the students are much better satisfied with the personal appearance of their teachers, the interest they take in their subjects and the fairness of their awarding of grade marks than they are with their personal peculiarities, the degree of intellectual curiosity aroused by them or the excellence with which they present subject matter.

Final results of the tests here showed that the students had the poorest opinions of the way teachers presented their subject matter, while they had the best opinions of their personal appearance.

Students' arrangement of the factors upon which instructors were graded, resolved itself into this order:

1. Personal appearance.
2. Interest in subject matter.
3. Fairness in grading.
4. Self-reliance and confidence.
5. Sympathetic attitude toward students.
6. Liberal and progressive attitude.
7. Sense of proportion and humor.
8. Personal peculiarities.
9. Stimulating intellectual curiosity.
10. Presentation of subject matter.

Twenty-three of the 50 teachers rated had been rated in similar tests five to seven years ago. Only nine of them were rated higher than in the previous tests. Music instructors fared better than any other group in the tabulation of student opinion, but the rankings by departments in which instructors teach was not considered statistically reliable.

Some other trends brought out by the "student vote":

1. Teaching experience seems to have little to do with student opinion of teachers.
2. There is not enough evidence to support the belief that older teachers are rated lower than younger ones.
3. Size of the class has little effect on student opinion.
4. Teachers who assign the lower grade marks tend to receive higher ratings on the point "fairness in grading."
5. The older the student, the more likely he is to hold good opinions of instructors.
6. Women instructors do not have any advantage over men.

CHESS

We have heard people say that chess played scientifically loses all its appeal for them when it is reduced to a cut and dried affair which leaves nothing to the imagination. The purpose of the following series of articles is to attempt to champion the cause of the bookworm.

When chess is played correctly, each piece has its proper position for any given situation. Chess is not static, and every move and counter-move allows of continuous variation in the pattern of the game. The analysis of a new position for the white bishop presents just as stiff a problem to the scientific player as to the hit-and-miss specialist who closes his eyes and hopes to see that the piece has landed on a white square when he opens them again. This same white bishop may be placed on the same square time and time again in as many different situations by the expert; but then, his reasons are always different too. It will be hard to convince us that the layo gives his imagination half the workout that the expert with his cut and dried variety of moves imparts to his side of the board in a fraction of the time.

Any chess text presents an enormous number of variations based on the relatively few standard openings. It is entirely unnecessary to learn all or even a greater part of them. It is possible for a player with a relatively little equipment to turn any unfamiliar opening series of moves into a pattern which is well known to him; so that he acquires either an immediate advantage, or at the very least, a position of equal strength.

Although at first sight this type of chess appears to be entirely mechanical, there is plenty of compensation in the anticipation of the opponent's stratagems in order to frustrate an early gain on his part. Without this careful jockeying for position, the most ingenious attacks fail much more often than they succeed simply because they are based on unsound principles.

A game of chess may be said to fall into three main divisions: the opening, the middle game, and the end game. There is really no sharp dividing line, but the opening becomes the middle game as soon as one of the players starts his attack. Similarly this in turn gives way to the end game when most of the major pieces have been removed and the struggle enters the last phase.

COLLEGE PHONE OPERATOR IS INFORMATION BUREAU AND MORE

The ability to give the right number at the right time is no longer the only requirement for a telephone operator, believes Charles Mitchell, Norman, whose job as university switchboard operator combines the tasks of an information bureau, guardian of the campus and mother's little helper.

For Mitchell, who has been a university operator for two years, has performed duties ranging from spelling the word, "delete" to letting people out of the university buildings in which they have been locked.

"It is fun helping people out if you can while working on the switchboard," Mitchell said, "but sometimes things come up that are pretty irritating."

One of Mitchell's pet peeves is the failure of wives of university professors to learn that by calling 900, the switchboard number, they only get the university switchboard and not their husband's telephone.

"More than once a professor's wife has called from downtown and, when I said 'University,' thought I was her husband and started getting confidential," Mitchell said. Just how confidential the professors' wives become, Mitchell refused to say, however.

"Other amusing incidents are furnished by mothers of students who call the university switchboard and ask to speak to their sons or daughters, Mitchell remarked.

"When I tell such a caller that there are more than 6,000 students on the campus and it would be rather difficult to find her son even if I did know his last name, some actually get indignant," he added.

Mitchell, who works from 6 to 10 o'clock at night on the switchboard, which has been operating 24 hours a day since 1930, handles an average of 200 calls an hour.

"And you would be surprised at the number of calls I get from professors and students who get locked in buildings," he added. "We get most of the calls of this kind from the library, here people evidently go to sleep and fall to wake up in time to get out before the door is locked."

The switchboard also gets a large number of calls at night from students who order a "coke and a package of cigarettes" and then hang up before they are informed they are not calling a drug store, the PDX operator said.—Oklahoma Daily.

Canadian Nickel

MAKES MODERN AIRCRAFT POSSIBLE

AIRCRAFT FACTORIES are operating day and night. New plants are being rushed to completion. Planes are being wheeled from the assembly lines, put through their punishing tests, and crated for shipment.

Today's planes must be built with an ample margin of safety to stand up under terrific strains. Vital parts subject to stress, shock or wear depend upon Canadian Nickel for added strength and toughness. Nickel Alloy Steels are universally used for propeller shafts, connecting rods, gears and numerous other parts subjected to severe stresses, fatigue or wear. Nickel Alloys also protect against failure due to intense heat and corrosive fumes.

In producing increasing quantities of Canadian Nickel for the Empire's expanding industries, Canada's Nickel mines, smelters and refineries and their 11,000 Canadian employees stand ready to do their share. With its plants modernized and expanded, this Canadian industry is prepared to produce as never before.

Any educated Artisan can tell from the heading of this column what it is going to be about, but for the benefit of the unlettered (engineers and others) it might be well to explain that we intend to put into this column anything pertaining to things military. At any rate, anything that does not come under the regular order, etc., which might be called interesting, be made interesting, or be human interest material. Let it be known also that the column will appear regularly on Fridays, and that anyone who has material that he thinks might be of use is invited to leave it, addressed to "Miles" on the board in the "Daily" office. The column will also do its best to answer any question or clear up any obscure point in connection with military activities, that is left at the same place.

This week the first place in point of news interest must be given to the inter-company sports. This afternoon each company will compete for honours in the regular track and field events besides a softball game which is to be organised if enough players can be found. And while we're on this subject of entrants for the various events, it seems that the fellows aren't exactly straining at the leash to uphold their company's honour, or at least they haven't given any sign of straining so far. So that if there is anyone who feels he would like to boost his company up two points by simply turning out, he still has lots of time to give his name to his company representative (there was a list of them in yesterday's Daily) or he can simply present himself when his chosen event is coming off, give in his name and enter.

Have you ever seen a recruit walking? Well I have; and he was supposed to be marching. So a zealous sergeant took the recruit out of the ranks and told him how to march. "At the command 'Quick-MARCH' you step out smartly with the left foot, at the same time extending the right arm smartly in front." But it seems that something short-circuited inside the recruit at this point, because he now gets around by simultaneously extending his left arm and left foot, then his right arm and right foot, rather like a robot or a gorilla... and nothing, absolutely NOTHING, can get him out of it.

Several anxious people have asked me "What about uniforms?"—not that I know anything about it. But I have gathered from here and there that it is almost certain that the Reserve Battalion will not have uniforms until the new year, and possibly not until they go to camp in the Spring, but that is all that is known at the moment on that subject.

Sergeants are always fair game so it will do no harm to mention those two sergeants who had a competition to see who could out-shout the other in those ejaculations that sergeants habitually (Continued on Page Four)

DINNER, DANCE TO BE LAST OF FROSH AFFAIRS

Limited Number of Tickets Available

BLAKE SEWELL PLAYS

Dr. Roscoe Will Address Coeds at Dinner

The last frosh affair of the year, the annual Freshman-Freshette dinner and dance, will be held in the Union on Wednesday October 23 under the auspices of the Freshman Reception Committee assisted by the Men's and Women's Unions. The freshettes will assemble for dinner in the Grill and the freshmen in the Cafeteria at 6.15.

Dr. Roscoe to Speak.

Plans are already under way for the entertainment provided at dinner for the freshettes by members of the class. Dr. Roscoe, warden of R.V.C. will address the coeds. Margery Gaunt, president of the Women's Union, and Janet Hamilton, president of R.V.C. '44, will speak.

Groups Meet to Dance.

After dinner the frosh will meet in the Ballroom to dance to the strains of Blake Sewell's orchestra. Tickets which cost 35 cents may be obtained at the Tuck Shop, at Bill Gentlemen's office, from members of the Freshman Reception Committee, from officers of the Women's Union and the Arts Undergraduates Society. Since accommodations for the Freshmen are definitely limited they are advised by the committee to get their tickets as soon as possible.

LITERARY SOCIETY DECIDES PROGRAM

Officers Elected at the First Meeting of Organization

The McGill Literature Society met yesterday after the lapse of a year, and plans were discussed for the coming season. A large number of students attended the meeting and the following officers were elected to lead the group: President—Phyllis Buckingham; third year representative—Marguerite Pettes; second year representative—Mary Miller; first year representative—Roland MacKinnon.

The society plans to meet once a month throughout the season. Instead of the usual practise of having students read papers at the meetings, professors will be asked to discuss topics of general literary interest. Following the talk will be informal discussions among the members.

The executive pointed out that the Literature Society is not of interest only to students who are honoring in English; the discussions will not be related to courses but

FIRST DAILY MEETING TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Tonight at 8 o'clock the McGill Daily will hold the first meeting of the season in the Union Grill room to discuss various matters concerning the running of the Daily. The Managing board has decided that this meeting should be regarded as a compulsory assignment for every member of the staff. Some of the editors will give short addresses to explain the work and the aims of the Daily, and newcomers will have a chance to get information on any points about which they are in doubt. This meeting will also give an opportunity to new members to meet each other and to get acquainted with the older members and the editors.

Following the discussions refreshments will be served to moisten the speakers' throats and all will then join in dancing which will conclude the informal party.

MAC CIRCLE TO ELECT FRESHIE

Meeting Will Be Held on Sunday

Dr. Viner to Address Gathering in Strathcona Hall

The Maccabean Circle will have its opening meeting on Sunday 3 o'clock at Strathcona Hall for the purpose of electing a freshie to the Executive.

Dr. Norman Viner, guest speaker for the evening and Honorary President of the Circle, will address the gathering and past presidents and alumni will greet those who attend. The executive will then present the program to be followed during the ensuing season which will be well-balanced between social and cultural considerations. All Jewish students, freshies, freshmen, coeds and upperclassmen are invited to attend.

The Maccabean Circle is a university club of which Jewish students of all years are members. It is the purpose of the society to foster friendship and at the same time to give students an opportunity to discuss common problems.

Invitations have been forwarded to all members. At 5 o'clock, the meeting will adjourn to the Pit, where refreshments will be served.

BAND IMPROVING SAYS MUSICIAN

Vickers Scout Bandmaster Heard Rehearsal Last Night

"The McGill Band is doing extremely well considering the comparatively short time it has been rehearsing. It is difficult to take a group of musicians and train them to play in unison, because every musician has his own individual manner of playing, and when a number play together it is often necessary to accustom the players to play in a similar manner. Consequently I am sure that in a very short time the Band will compare favourably with some of the best bands in the City." This was said by Mr. Blackburn, bandmaster of Vickers Boyscout Band, who was present at the band practice last night.

WAR SERVICE PROGRAM FOR WOMEN

All women students of McGill University who at present hold the first aid certificate of the St. John Ambulance Association are asked to register at the office of the secretary of the Royal Victoria College not later than Saturday, October 19th.

BIOLOGY GROUP BEGINS SERIES OF DISCUSSIONS

'Nature of the Organism' Is Seminar Topic

MEET EACH MONDAY

Meetings Open to All Students Interested in Biology

The Biological Research Association yesterday announced a series of seminars, beginning Monday, October 21st, and continuing weekly until April 21st, on "The Nature of the Organism." Undergraduates and all others interested are invited to attend these seminars, which have been organized in the form of a single symposium. They are to be held on Mondays at 1 p.m. in Room 21 of the Biological Building.

10 Departments Represented. The Biological Research Association was formed at the end of the last series of seminars, by representatives appointed from 10 biological departments. Its aim is to include all those who are professionally engaged in biological research, and its members include workers from McGill University, the University of Montreal, the Institute of Parasitology, and Macdonald College.

Other Meetings Scheduled.

Several semi-social meetings will be held at various times and places, at which group demonstrations will be made. The first of these will be at Macdonald College on the afternoon of Saturday, October 26. Hosts will be the biological departments of Macdonald College and the Institute of Parasitology, where the demonstrations will be held. Tea will be served at the Faculty Club of Macdonald College. This meeting will be held jointly with the Montreal Physiological Society. Further meetings of this general character will be held as announced from time to time.

A business meeting will be held toward the end of the session to discuss any matters pertaining to organization, membership and program.

Box lunches for the weekly seminars will be delivered to persons desiring them if a call is made to Pl. 7088 (Mother Hubbard) by 11 a.m.

Seminar List.

Following is a list of the seminars and speakers for the first month. The subjects for the remaining meetings will be announced later. Showing date, subject, structure and growth; speaker and department:

October 21—Structure of cytoplasm, G. W. Scarth, Botany.
October 28—Structure of the nucleus, C. L. Huskins, Genetics.
November 4—Rate of replacement of protoplasm, D. L. Thompson, Biochemistry.
November 18—Cell size and cell increase, B. N. Smallman, Zoology.

At the practice last night the band polished up on some of the pieces it has played in former years and on the new ones it rehearsed last week. In addition it tried out some new ones.

Another practice has been called for Tuesday evening at 7.15 in the Union Grillroom. "We want another good turnout at this practice," said (Continued on Page Four)

Funeral of Professor du Roure Marked by Solemn Ceremonial

Color Bearers From Association of French Great War Veterans and Union Nationale Francaise Lead Cortege

Special tribute was paid by the Association of French Great War Veterans and the Union Nationale Francaise to the memory of Professor Rene du Roure of McGill University, who died here on Tuesday, when color bearers from these organizations headed the funeral cortege yesterday morning. The cortege proceeded from the Chapel of Jos. C. Wray & Bro. to St. James Cathedral. Representatives of McGill University and many other local organizations as well as private citizens also joined in mourning his passing.

Mgr. Emile Charlier, vice-rector of the University of Montreal, received the body at the church, and

Professor du Roure was a former captain in the French army, and distinguished himself in the service of his country during the Great War. He joined the staff of McGill in 1912, and with the exception of the war years taught continuously until his death. His teaching was not confined, however, merely to the University proper. He was an enthusiastic participant in the activities of many and varied institutions, particularly the French Summer School. This organization owes a major part of its success to his untiring work.

For Secretary, the nominations are:

Norman Retallack, J. B. Delbis, F. Palmer, G. Hudson, H. Minogue. For Treasurer: G. Johnson, M. G. Ward, J. D. Storey, D. D. Storey, G. Alvarez-Caldern.

The whole Faculty has the right to vote, first year students included, and the date has been set back to Monday to allow Freshmen time to meet the candidates.

NEWMAN CLUB TO MEET ON SUNDAY

Professor LaViolette Will Speak at the Meeting

The Newman Club will hold its regular meeting this Sunday at 9.45 a.m. in the Lady Chapel of St. Patrick's Church, on Dorchester St., four blocks east of University St. After the mass, breakfast will be served, and Professor LaViolette of the Department of Sociology will deliver a short address to the meeting.

A number of social affairs are to be held by the Club during the course of the year, and the first of these will be an informal dance at the McGill Union on Thursday, October 24th. Arrangements for this dance are now being made by the executive committee which is attempting to secure the services of Archie Etienne and his orchestra. Tickets for admission to the dance will be sold at the meeting on Sunday, to which all students are invited, especially the Catholic Freshmen who have not yet met acquaintance with the Club.

At the practice last night the band polished up on some of the pieces it has played in former years and on the new ones it rehearsed last week. In addition it tried out some new ones.

Another practice has been called for Tuesday evening at 7.15 in the Union Grillroom. "We want another good turnout at this practice," said (Continued on Page Four)

DOUGLAS HALL HOLDS INFORMAL SATURDAY

Douglas Hall will hold its first dance of the year Saturday, October 19, at 9.00 p.m. for residents and their guests. It will be an informal affair, held in the refectory hall, and will last till 1.00 a.m. The music will be furnished by a jute-box, and Bill Sutherland, president of the Residents Council promises that the nickels will be furnished by the committee.

Refreshments served during the course of the evening, will be included in the admission price (less than 75 cents). This informal will give Freshmen their first chance to associate with other residents on an equal footing, and a good turnout is expected by the committee. Residents who wish to attend are requested to affix their names on the list in the Junior Common Room, so that arrangements for food can be made.

S.C.M. TO HOLD SOCIAL EVENING

Prof. MacLennan to Discuss Conditions in Britain

Murray Brooks to Speak on Christian Youth Movement

Present conditions in the British Isles will be discussed by Professor MacLennan, at the S.C.M. Open House which is being held on Sunday evening. Professor MacLennan, who is head of the Philosophy Department at McGill has just returned from Scotland. He and his wife will be special guests at the Open House. Following the address Murray Brooks will lead the group in community singing.

Preliminary to the Open House the S.C.M. will hold a chapel service in Divinity Hall, University street at 7.30 p.m. The service will be conducted by Frank McNair, president of the S.C.M. and Mr. Murray Brooks is to be speaker. His topic will be "The First Christian Youth Movement." Mr. Brooks, a McGill graduate, was secretary of the S.C.M. from 1934 to 1938. He then left to work with the Y.M.C.A. in Rangoon, Burma. He returned this year to resume duties in Montreal.

All students, whether members of the S.C.M. or not will be welcomed at the Chapel Service and the Open House, it was announced by a member of the executive, as the

Coeds Discuss War Service Program

TO TRAIN FOUR HOURS

Principal James Addresses Assembly of Women

Dr. Muriel Roscoe has asked all women students to be present at a meeting which is being held on Monday, October 21st, at 5.15 p.m. in the Assembly Hall of the Royal Victoria College for the purpose of discussing and planning a program of war service work for McGill co-eds. Principal James will open the meeting with an address.

Medical Exams Completed.

By this time all co-eds are to have had their medical exams and unless the results are such that they cannot participate in strenuous exercise (in which case they must apply in writing to Dr. Roscoe for exemption) they are to begin training on Tuesday. The program calls for a routine making for physical fitness and at the same time preparation for service in the possible event of national emergency. All women will be enrolled in groups for physical training and for instruction in First Aid and Home Nursing.

Training Divided.

Beginning Tuesday all McGill co-eds will train four hours a week—two of which will be spent in participation of voluntarily elected physical activity and two in receiving instruction in First Aid and Home Nursing. Lectures on personal and community health and the relation of these to actual war situations are part of these sessions.

In the latter group of this program instructions will be given to groups of 30 women. Although organized on an independent basis, these courses lead to the securing of certificates of the St. John Ambulance Association. Those who already hold the St. John Ambulance Certificate must register at the office of the secretary of R.V.C. before Saturday, October 19.

meetings are meant to be informal get-togethers for all undergrads. Music and games have been planned and refreshments will be served during the evening.

Around the Campus

Calling all co-eds, calling all co-eds, war effort meeting on Monday. Don't forget the freshie and freshmen dinner and informal on Wednesday. You're invited to the S.C.M. open house on Sunday evening. If you're a member or interested in the Daily, then come to the meeting tonight at the Union. This applies to freshmen too. New-comes hold meeting this Sunday. Maccabeans also meet this Sunday at 3. Monday is deadline to collect at the Book Exchange—so hurry. Oh yes, Biological Seminars will soon commence.

But to-day is the last day and those who do not play their games before nightfall will be defaulted without a third chance.

All in all the tourney has been going rather well, although the cold weather has made it rather hard to work up much enthusiasm for freezing. Moreover it has served its main purpose to the full namely that of introducing the Freshettes to their upper classmates. It can safely be said that so far the competition is a success; so all the girls who haven't yet played their games are urged to finish them up and keep up the good record that has been set by the other members of the tourney.

The turnout at the Fencing Club has been simply remarkable, in fact a larger group has never yet been seen during the Club's three years of existence. With such a good start the season should prove one of the most stimulating ever.

However, there is one disappointing problem that must be solved before plans can get under way. There has been a marked shortage of foils and they are practically unobtainable. Thus if anyone knows of any way to procure them they would be doing the Fencing Club a great favour if they would get in touch with Margo Van Reet and inform her as soon as possible.

The swimming list that has been posted in R.V.C. is slowly but surely getting names marked on it. It seems strange with so many past champions or near champions lurking around the campus that a bigger effort has not been made to fill the list.

This new club will offer an opportunity to those who have never been much interested in Basketball or Badminton to hold their own in the field of Women's Athletics at McGill. It is hoped that a larger and more enthusiastic group of names may be noted the next time the list is looked at.

Moreover this club will absolutely not be restricted to those of Champion calibre but anyone who is the least interested in taking part in the activity is urged to sign. This club if well supported will do much to increase the already growing team spirit that now exists amongst the co-eds.

The Semi-Annual meeting of the Women's Athletic Association is the last but not the least important item of this column. Under the capable guidance of President Maryellen Rossiter the meeting is scheduled to swing into action on October 28th at 3 p.m. in the afternoon.

Freshettes are especially urged to attend as it will serve to introduce them to Women's Athletics at McGill. If they haven't already been introduced. As a quorum of fifty will be necessary to pass the amendments to the constitution everyone is cordially invited to come. There have been many changes and probably some of the Sophomore Juniors and Seniors would like to know what is going on. So come one, come all, and no matter how many come tea will be served at the close of the meeting following the usual custom.

make, namely "Left . . . Left . . . Left . . ." The result was that first one platoon that thought it was in step heard the sergeant in front of it better than its own, and changed step to suit his pleas, then when his voice got hoarse, both platoons changed to keep step with the other sergeant, and so on. Oh well, we mustn't be too hard on them, besides which a sergeant's a sergeant, and they have too many opportunities to retaliate. . . .

ten thousands as efficiently as they do over here, but that doesn't condemn the English game to the Kindergarten. It merely goes to point a difference in method. Judging by the casualties in the first Canadian game I watched, the players need every ounce of their padding. A Canadian tackler, on getting his man, thinks it permissible and even essential to break a few bones and knock out a round number of teeth. Obviously, this adds another side to the game's interest, and also another method of scoring. For instance, although one side may have lost 0-40, however so long as they are a dozen ribs, collar-bones and teeth to the good, they count it at least a moral victory.

Again, it is said that the English game is so soft that players are supposed to stop and help a fallen opponent up. It isn't true, but even if it were, it's better than being supposed to stop and help him down (underground) with a few well-placed stamps on the back of the neck. The advice of the spectators to the players reflects this barbarity. "Kick him again, Bill, he's breathing" was the cry I heard most frequently, but there were others. Now in England such advice, if offered, would apply solely to the Referee. That unfortunate is invariably six good inches smaller than the smallest player, and comes in for all the straining that a Canadian crowd divides among the gridirons or whatever they call them.

In conclusion (if anyone has got this far) I must express my amazement at the amount of energy that goes into each game. Planning, playing and cheering get as much drive put into them as the Niagara Falls could give in a week. And still they talk of a Water-way project to supply Power.

Every man tugging out will get a chance to play if Doug Kerr considers him fit to compete. With the aid of Johnny Cloghessy, Buster Fletcher, and Stuart Smith the following teams have been chosen:

First team: E. Smith, Postons, W. Grant, Oumel, B. Stronach, Farlinger, Wyber, Davies, Nussbaum, Wiggitt, Cleary, Lafoley, Norworthy, Haring, Huggeson, Lefavre, MacPherson, Holland, Henry, Gentler, Glickman, Elliot.

Second team: Hall, Cuke, Gibson, R. Read, Byington, Madill, Jordan, Robinson, Simpson, Barclay, Brennan, Russell, Bailey, Norrish, Diplosk, Smibert, Sugar, Foster, Rateb, Kobernick, Popovitch, Black, Johnston, R. Stronach, Garber.

Third team: W. Johnston, Keay, Brown, Rapelje, Scobie, Lieb, Wiser, Greenidge, Pare, Ward, Morris, Marshall, Wallace, Whittaker, Macfarlane, Carroll, Groom, Rose, Poroles, Benjamin, Victor, Stanforth, Goldsborough.

Six Remaining Matches.
The matches to be played today see Captain J. Richer meet P. Hyndman and in the quarter finals H. Lalonde opposes E. Henneman. Following these matches a quarter final match will be played between B. Finlay and the winner of the Richer vs. Hyndman match. J. Richer and E. Henneman are considered to be the two favorites to emerge from these three matches although upsets in this tournament have been numerous and anything is liable to happen in these knockout sets.

With these three matches run off the tournament will settle down to the two all important semi-final matches which will be played sometime tomorrow. These two matches will see Heinrich meeting the winner of the quarter-final match with Finlay and Landry opposing the winner of the Lalonde vs. Henneman quarter final match.

Finally, comes the all important final match which will be played some time this week-end from which will emerge the new college champion. As soon as the tournament is completed the awarded points for each company will be released and will appear in an early issue of the Daily. The tournament thus far has been marked with some excellent playing by winner and loser alike and these final decisive matches should be no exception.

Coach F. M. Van Wagner wishes to stress that this year everyone is invited to enter any event and the emphasis will be laid upon the number of entrants rather than upon their individual showing. Since the first six positions count in the final survey of company points everyone has a chance to add to his company's total despite the fact that some more experienced entrant may win first place by a large margin.

A Mass Meeting of ALL WOMEN STUDENTS is called for Monday, October 21st, at 5.15 in the Assembly Hall, Royal Victoria College. This meeting marks the inauguration of the War Service Program for Women and will be addressed by Principal James. Group instruction begins on Tuesday. Details of the complete program will be given at the mass meeting.

All applications for exemption on the results of the medical examination must be made in writing to the undersigned at the Royal Victoria College. These applications must be accompanied by the medical report.

Post-Entries Accepted.
Elsewhere on this page are listed the schedule of events in the order in which they are to be run off together with a list of the entrants to date. It should be stressed that post-entries will be accepted at the starting line and all who have neglected to sign the lists may still enter any event. B. Company has entered the most number of contestants thus far with entries in every event. Independents on the other hand have only one entry posted to date and all students who have no company affiliation are urged to turn out, nevertheless.

The pole vault, discus, and high hurdles are scheduled to commence at 2.15 sharp and everyone who is entered in these events are urged to be on time in order that the meet may get underway on time.

Referees Named.

The meet is under the patronage of Principal Dr. F. Cyril James, who has agreed to be Honorary Referee. Other referees are Col. J. M. Morris, Dr. J. C. Simpson, and Dr. F. J. Tees, with Dr. A. S. Lamb and F. M. Van Wagner as Directors. Hay Finlay and Em. Orlick will act as Clerks of the Course.

As Judges the following will officiate: Judges of Track, Major J. C. Kemp (Chief), Capt. H. S. L. Brown, J. W. Davies, Major A. T. Field, Major J. A. de Lalanne, H. R. Little, J. L. O'Brien, Capt. C. R. Payan.

Judges of Jumps: E. A. Cushing (Chief), Prof. G. J. Dodd, Prof. R. DeL. French, Lieut. E. L. Ginna. Judges of Weights: Lt.-Col. N. B. MacLean (Chief), 2nd Lieut. G. L. Drysdale, Prof. A. J. Kelly, Prof. H. E. Reilly, Lieut. M. A. Ross, Prof. F. M. Wood.

Dean E. Brown will be in charge of the Timekeeping, with Prof. C. H. Carruthers, Lieut. G. A. McVey, C. A. Morrison, assisting.

G. H. Fletcher will be Chief Scorer, Lieut. R. M. Calder, 2nd Lieut. W. A. Clark, 2nd Lieut. C. F. Carsley, G. C. McDonald, C. Frankton, T. H. Matthews as assistants.

As Inspectors J. C. G. Young, J. J. Stewart, R. G. Townsend, N. F. Retallack, and D. Armstrong are going to officiate.

C. W. L. Horn will be the Starter, Dr. F. G. Pedley as Field Doctor will take care of the sick and Announcer L. Forth will keep the meeting going.

The track and field managers R. H. Stevenson and A. S. LeMesurier are putting all their efforts into making this first Inter-Company competition a success and only by the participation and attendance of all can this be realized. This fact is drawn to the attention of all students for you are the University.

featured the evening's program. Vernon Pope, secretary, introduced Jim Simpson, who spoke on how gliding had started in Germany after the War when the Germans were not allowed to use power planes and finally spread from European countries to this side. So far the McGill Flying Club is the only one of any size in Canada.

Movies Shown.

Simpson concluded by saying that he hoped that people had not been discouraged by the unfounded rumour that one spent the first three years pulling others into the air.

Movies followed showing, first of all, the Primary Trainer out at St. Sauveur last fall, and the present activities out at Carlierville. This latter site has the advantage of a hangar. This means that the Club does not have to assemble the planes before every flight, and can spend a full day's gliding. The Meet at Elmira finished up the film. The second film showed a day of gliding at one of the biggest Gliding clubs in England. The Meeting ended with those interested going over to the Work shop on University St. Those interested in the club are asked to phone Vernon Pope, El. 7271.

FOR BOOK EXCHANGE

Credit slips must be presented at the Book Exchange on Monday between 9.00 a.m. and 3.00 p.m. by those who left books to be sold. The names of those to whom money is due will appear in Monday's Daily. The committee wishes it brought to the attention of all students that this is the last time the Exchange will be open for business this term, though immediately after Christmas a short session will be held for the benefit of those who take half courses.

The Exchange Executive announces that the turnover this year has been somewhat above average, $1,200 worth of books being sold. The following composed the personnel: R. James, Manager; R. Johnson, Assistant Manager; J. Wright, G. Alexander, D. Whiting, B. Cripps, and A. McLeod, Assistants.
